SENSE AND NONSENSE.

The New Haven Connecticut Union in commenting on the efforts of Democrats to lay aside the difference of the past remarks as follows:

"We believe that the men who were loyal in '96 and 1900 will be something to say, and without they are consulted the 'harmony' will be of the jug and handle order. Let us for a moment pause and ask, what would be thought if Benedict Arnold had asked to be placed at the head of the Revolutionary army and dictate its policy, after he had betrayed it. Of course, Arnold could have shouted, 'I am a loyal military man,' just as politicians now shout, 'I am a Democrat,' but the latter's assertion is just as ridiculous as Arnold's would have been. Don't let these gentlemen deceive themselves. The masses will not be fooled by the big tongues and professions of what these 'harmless' and 'reconciling' will do in the future, if again entrusted with power. The query is: What is the record in the past? By their works shall we know them."

The Courier-Journal of the 24th refers to the above in this manner: Such talk is childish. If it could weigh with any considerable body of Democrats, we should never have anything but factional politics, small politics, and pettifoggish politicians, and never again amount to anything in the country at large, being already, on account of these things, out of power in two-thirds of the States. Its expression by the New Haven paper is out an exhibition of unthinking spleen. In States like Connecticut, where the Republicans have it all their own way, and in States like Texas, where the Democrats have it all their own way, it matters little what lines are drawn, or what tests are made; but in the debatable States—whose vote is indispensable to Democratic victories—whose vote is indispensable to achieving any headway against Republican crosses and corruptions—it makes all the difference in the world, and Democrats of conviction, of sense and judgment, whether they were gold men or silver men, are not going to throw away the future by reason of the past; they are going to agree to differ about the things that were in favor of the agreement that exists about the things that are; they are going to do, as they have done before, turn their backs up on the past, their faces to the foe, and march on to glory precisely as if nothing had happened.

They did this in 1868, after the split of 1860, and the mistakes of 1864. They did it in 1876, after the division and disaster of 1872. Parties that count for anything are living, breathing, mortal entities. They cannot and do not live in the clouds. The Prohibition party has made no progress in fifty years, because it tied itself to a single summary proposition, which has no growth to it. The Democratic party is a belief of life and light of movement—addressing itself to the public questions of the time, to the actual business of the country, not a revengeful dreamer, trying itself to the corpse of dead issues and dying passions.

In Kentucky the Democratic party was never more thoroughly united, or better organized than it is at this present moment. It has a clean, conservative administration at Frankfort, where a young, attractive Democratic Governor has falsified all the evil prophecies which were leveled against his candidacy. It has a clean, conservative administration in the city of Louisville, where a young and energetic Democratic Mayor holds a firm hand upon the piston-rod of the public interest. We have a Democratic, all of us, whatever our old differences, everything to live for and to strive for. But we reached this high and solid ground as by God's hand, through a period of blood and terror that tried both the courage and the souls of men—having, through our dissensions, a vision of lost possession of the State. In view of all that has happened—the reign of lawlessness at Frankfort—the army of marauders—the murder of Goebel—the dispersal of the Legislature at the point of the bayonet—the threat of Federal intervention, with its menace of chaos and ruin—how trivial by comparison with these seem the abstract questions of monetary ratio that once divided us!

God grant that those times may never come again. That they shall not call for the continued union of Democrats of every shade of belief. Partitioned by fire, the party was born again, never to split asunder, never to look backward, but always forward; self-respecting, tolerant, generous in all its verdicts. We know what faction means. We know what implacable politics mean. To both we say, "Get behind us Satan!" as we fly the flag of Democracy, untried and undefiled, bearing the motto, "For God Government, and the Honor of Old Kentucky."

A TRIP TO LEXINGTON.

Editor of the News:

It is with reluctance that I ask space in your paper to publish an account of my visit to the beautiful city of Lexington.

I left home on the 1st day of June in company with my friend, Mr. Oscar Smith. We had quite a pleasant drive to the little town of Danville, which is ten miles from Fonthill, my home. After an hour's drive we came to Poplar Grove. A very large crowd had assembled there, and we were told that a minister's meeting was being held. We stopped over, spending two and a half hours very pleasantly, and being well rested we again pursued our journey. We got to Danville about 5 o'clock p. m., received a hearty welcome and were royally entertained until morning. At 5:45 I told Mr. Smith good bye, and was soon very courteously seated on Mr. Robert's mail hack, which was to reach Yosemite at 9:30 a. m., a distance of 18 miles. The hack reached Yosemite on time, and Mr. Short's hack was standing at the post-office ready for us to get on and be carried to McKinney. With Dr. Eads, of Central Illinois, and Miss Lutha Taylor, of Somerset, I had quite a pleasant trip. We arrived at McKinney in due time.

I was standing on the platform of the depot when I recognized an old friend of mine from Russell county named Coffey. He informed that Dr. Frank Grider lived in town and how to get to his house. In a short time I was enjoying his hospitality. His estimable wife soon prepared dinner and we enjoyed a beautiful repast. To say the least Dr. Grider will long remain green in my memory.

The train was due at McKinney 1:14 p. m., but was 20 minutes late. Upon its arrival the coaches were immediately filled with passengers. Then the engineer began to open the throttle and the great iron horse with its load of a half dozen coaches moved off apparently with as much ease as the waves tossed upon the beach by the wind. Faster and faster she ran until we were traveling toward the capital of the beautiful blue-grass region at almost lightning speed. It was 5:10 p. m. when I stepped off the train at Lexington, and in ten minutes by means of a street car I was on the bonnie old Kentucky State College campus again. Upon that campus stands the pier of colleges in this Commonwealth. The work done in K. S. C. is recognized everywhere. Ere I reached the main building I had met a number of classmates. The evening and next day were pleasantly spent. Wednesday, June 4, was class-day and the seniors had a very interesting program. Commencement day, the exercises were exceedingly good consisting of orations, essays, etc. After the last oration degrees were conferred upon quite a number.

In the afternoon of June 4, in company with a crowd of schoolmates, I visited the insane asylum. We were taken through the numerous halls that we might see the arrangement of the eating and sleeping apartments of both male and females. Everything was in perfect condition. After a pleasant evening I said good bye to my friends and class-mates and prepared to return home.

I boarded the train at 9:55 a. m., June 6, and had quite a pleasant ride to McKinney and at 7:55 reached Danville. With exceedingly great pleasure I accepted an invitation to attend an ice-cream supper given to the ladies of the Macabees by the Knights of the Macabees, Danville Tent, No. 75. It was by far the greatest supper ever given in Danville. Ice cream and cake, strawberries, lemonade and a number of other good things were served. Danville can boast of the most enthusiastic band of Macabees in this part of the Commonwealth. A little more than a year ago there were only 30 members, now there are no less than 50. Where is there another town of the same population that will equal it in Macabees? I had the privilege of attending church on Saturday night and Sunday, June 7, 8, and also the children's missionary entertainment Sunday night. After being in the quest town for more than two days, I was made to believe that her citizens were the most accommodating, hospitable, enterprising and intelligent as any people upon earth. He who rules on high, who holds the reins of the nations of the earth in his hand, surely sends them the most copious showers, gives them the purest water and makes the inhabitants most enterprising. Now, with many thanks to the kind people of Danville, I am, as ever, a friend to The Adair County News.

T. A. SMITH.

Congressman Shallenbarger introduced a resolution in the house on June 6 calling on the secretary of war for the cause of officialism of one of the clerks in the war department. This clerk was dismissed, it is reported, for writing an article for a local paper, criticizing the president in connection with the administration of Philippine affairs. The resolution was referred to the committee on civil service reform. A similar resolution has been introduced in the senate by Senator Carmack, of Tennessee.

WEDNESDAY JULY 2

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce H. H. HENNINGER, Wayne county, a candidate for the office of State Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The Evening Post's Frankfort correspondent, a few days ago, attempted to forecast the contestants for Democratic nominations for State officers. If, however, he is approximately correct in his picture of the skirmishers, there will be a lively tilt from head to tail of the ticket. Some few have announced themselves, "subject to the action," and it is reasonable to expect a full crop of live, wide-awake candidates for every office. In making mention of the various Democrats who are likely to become candidates, or those who are favorably mentioned for positions on the ticket, the aforesaid correspondent stated that Mr. James Garnett, Jr., of Adair, is in the minds of many as a suitable man for Attorney General. Favorable mention of Mr. Garnett for this position is no new thing, for to our personal knowledge he has friends throughout the State who are anxious for him to become a candidate and to be our next Attorney General, but up to this date he has made no announcement as to his desires, and his friends who feel a deep interest in this matter have no assurance that he will enter the fight. We are here to say that he would make an official to the liking of our party and the good of the State, and should he decide to make the race the Democrats of this section will be found anxious and active in his support. It is useless for us to speak of his ability, either as a candidate or an official, for he is known throughout the State. No better man could be selected, and we trust that he will yield to the demands of his many friends.

Col. Ed Parker, Republican candidate for Congress in this district, and Mr. Cooper, the Chairman of the district, got into a racket at Somerset. Mr. Cooper gave Mr. Parker the lie, whereupon the would-be Congressman tossed a glass and a pitcher at Mr. Cooper's head. Friends interfered, preventing Mr. Parker from throwing a whole set of furniture.

King Edward, who was operated upon last week is getting along nicely and his physicians think there is but little doubt now of his recovery. The coronation services would have taken place last week had it not been for the King's serious illness. It will probably be two months before the crowning of the King will be called.

The Danville Advocate changed hands the first day of this month. Messrs. Craig Ralston and Owen McIntyre taking full control. They are both practical newspaper men of ability, hence the Advocate will lose none of its brightness.

Kentucky is to receive from the Federal Government $1,340,000 due the Commonwealth for money expended during the civil war. This sum would go along way toward putting up a handsome State house.

The outlook for the Democratic party is said to be good, but unfortunately for us we are forced to look over a mountain of Republican votes, in this district, and therefore, can not see any special signs of "sweeping the country."

The Republican party is protecting the "infant trusts" and then extorts from them the necessary stuff to "save the country" in every political contest.

Congress will probably adjourn to-morrow.

This modern trust prosperity is a fine article for the seller but it's hades for the eater and buyer.

Hon. Jas. N. Kibbe has been re-nominated for Congress by the Republicans in the Ninth district.

The fight in this district between the aspirants for the Republican nomination for Congress is warming up and the chances good for two to be defeated.

Judge B. L. D. Guffy was re-nominated by the Republicans of the Second Appellate district last week for Judge of the Court of Appeals. The district is close, but the Democrats will win.

It is but natural that the beneficiary of a trust would be for the thing, but we can not understand why people should support a man who is depriving them and their posterity of the just fruits of open and legitimate competition.

One month and two days until the Republican primary in the Eleventh Congressional district. The friends of both Mr. Coleman and Mr. Boering are active in Adair and each side is claiming the county. The indications are that a large vote will be brought out.

The Republicans in this district will soon show their tactics in an election wholly theirs. They will have a chance to demonstrate that they practice what they preach, fair elections, but whether they are theoretical or practical, fair elections, remains to be seen and we predict that the show is over and the mist rolled away that some discrepancies will appear.

If the Democratic party wants to be successful throughout the country it is in its judgment that the issues for which it should contend should be positive and not negative; that they should be well defined and not of a doubtful nature. After it is all summed up there is not a plank in any platform so attractive as the Republican center plank "We are out for revenue, fair if possible, but we are out for revenue." That plank has salivated many Democrats.

Quite a discussion is now on throughout the country, in Democratic circles, as to the future of the party. Cleveland and Hill have hurried the hatchet and are seeking to harmonize the discordant element that went off after Mr. Bryan in 1896 and 1900. Mr. Waterson has not yet harmonized with the big men who were at the Tilden Club, neither is he at peace with any Democratic platform since the convention that nominated Cleveland the first time. Mr. Bryan is still the leader of 6,000,000 true and unwavering Democratic voters who will neither favor Cleveland nor Republicanizing the Democratic party.

Farmers are about through plowing in this neck of the woods. Wheat raising is over and the crop is very good.

Robt. Rodgers is in the scrap iron business, buying for a dicker at Mc. Kinney.

The Mason meeting at Antioch was a success. They had a goodly crowd.

Elmer Daniel and Roscoe Chatman swapped bicycles a few days ago. It is supposed they both got cheated.

J. B. Daniel preached at Bethany Sunday.

Bill Thomas and DeWitt Rodgers had some trouble a few days ago, on South Fork, over counting shingles. The trouble is expected to end in something bad.

Robt. Rodgers is now traveling for the Milwaukee Medicine Co. He has been assigned the territory of Casey, Taylor, Russell and Pulaski counties.

We are informed that Mr. Robt. Bernard and Miss Derrice Chilton were married last Sunday.

Willie A. Anderson has gone to Oklahoma, to the wife of C. D. Rodgers, on the 20th, a 9 pound girl.

Last Sunday night as Mr. Jim Chaney was coming home from Danville, where he had been to an entertainment he saw something by the roadside, near William's bluff, which on first notice, looked to him like a sheep. It was moving about very briskly, which attracted attention. On viewing it closely, he said it began to increase in size until it looked as large as a cow. By this time he was excited, and started for home in a run. He was so badly scared that he ran against the door and tore it down. He was very badly hurt, but it is believed he will be up in a few days.

The young girls who took part in the entertainment given at East Columbia schoolhouse last Friday evening, were not ashamed of their efforts. The program published in the News last week was fully carried out, a crowded house witnessing the exercises. Several of the smaller girls had never before appeared before an audience and it was surprisingly gratifying, so well did they do their part. The songs were good, the tableaux beautiful, the cake walk perfect and laughable, the recitations first-class. There were fourteen little girls who took part and Columbia is proud of them, one and all. Miss Gertrude Grady, whose talents are known throughout the community, gave the little girls a bonnet by reciting and picturing "Book of Ages" in song. It was rendered most admirably and highly appreciated by the audience. The following are the names of the young people who took part: Ella Todd, Ella Walker, Annie Pauline, Bessie Hunt, Minnie Hopewell, Lina Rosendorf, Rosa Hunsicker, Mabel Atkin, Edna Murrell, Madge Rosenfield, Edna Lewis, Martha Hancock, and Fannie Jones. At the wind up there was a commotion. A miscue was made in setting fire to the composition that furnished the flash lights, the heat reaching the ceiling, causing considerable alarm. In the grand rush for fresh air and to extinguish the flame, Mr. J. O. Rosendorf got a hand badly burned. Miss Annie Eckhart and Emma Hunt each got a foot burned. Miss Lora West a hand burned, Bob Young for his wife and the writer of this notice lost his eyeglasses.

The celebration of St. John's Day by the Masons at Paul, Casey county, was a success in every particular. A large crowd was assembled and the program was carried out to the satisfaction of all. A number of prominent Masons were in attendance and took part in the work of the day. The march from the lodge room to the speakers stand was followed by a speech by Hon. H. C. Baker, of Columbia, in which he traced the history of Masonry from its origin during the time of Solomon to the present, ending with the words of charity now being done by the order in this State. After a most plentiful lunch, a large number of speeches were made, more in the nature of an experience meeting. The hospitality of the people of Paul and the writer of this notice than on this occasion. A notable feature of the occasion was the great number of beautiful ladies present, who came to add to the pleasures of the day.

A young lady named Barry, living beyond Cave Valley, had a narrow escape from death a few days ago. She was riding a work mule, the harness not having been removed. In a light rain her foot hung in a chain, striking the animal and the young lady was dragged some distance. She was fearfully bruised, but no bones were broken. Those who witnessed the accident say that it was a frightful scene, expecting to see the girl killed.

We understand that Rev. Denton is now interesting the people of Sparksville in the building of a High School in the town of Casey county. He has purchased near Mr. H. W. Wilson's, the contract for timber lot, and it is estimated that the building will cost $10,000. The Rev. Denton says that he is a Missionary Baptist and that the school will be under the control of that denomination. A meeting will be held in the near future and an educational rally will follow.

Mr. John Butler, who lives out of town, entertained a number of ladies at dinner last Saturday. Mesdames Rollie Hurt and L. C. Hurt and Miss Rollie Hurt were among the invited guests. One of the ladies speaking of the occasion said: "I never enjoyed a better dinner."

Next week will be a gala time in Columbia. The institute will be in session, all the teachers being present. Tuesday evening Hon. Alf Taylor will deliver his lecture, "Poetry and Pearls," and several other entertainments will be given during the week by the conductor of the institute and the teachers.

Mr. Lawrence Baily and Miss Mary Gowdy, of Campbellville, eloped to Cincinnati last week and were married. The bride is daughter of Mr. J. E. Gowdy, the well-known stage man.

The meeting at Albany conducted by Ed. J. Q. Montgomery and Z. T. Williams closed last Sunday with 12 additions to the church and the membership greatly revived.

The 5th Sunday meeting which was to have been held at Russell Creek church has been called off on account of small pot.

There will be singing at Rocky Hill the next Sunday night. The speakers will be P. T. Cooley and R. O. Cabell. Everybody invited.

Eld. Lawrence Williams had a very successful meeting at Carrollton recently. There were 32 additions to the church.

The Christian church at Nell, was dedicated last Sunday. Eld. Z. T. Williams preached the dedicatory sermon to a large crowd.

Rev. Wm. Dodgson, preacher at Hutchinson school house on the second Sunday in July at 2 P. M.

The Green county grand jury returned only thirty-two indictments, one for minor offenses.

Miss Sue Baker will open the Rocky Hill School Monday, July 14.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT FARMING.

Mr. Editor:

I notice in the last issue of the "News" that you have informed your readers that I had promised to write a series of articles on farming. I don't think I exactly promised, but as Mr. Mitchell seems to be in a strait I will try to help him out to the best of my ability, for I know by experience that it is to be barked on corn, although I am not a grower of the cereal.

One well-known axiom in all the agricultural journals is to "keep nothing but the best stock so as to get the most out of your feed." Now, I once bought from Squire Gowen a 4-year-old cow that had just weaned 16 pigs, all of them in fine shape. I knew that I had nothing but a frame to start with, so the first milk I gave the old lady was ten good sized ears of corn. I intended to make that sow fat in three weeks.

Well, in about an hour after I had fed her I went back to give her some slop, supposing that she had finished her corn. I found that she was perhaps getting hungry. I found nine ears of corn untouched and about one-half of the 16 piglets still in the old sow's old about 75 yards standing in her head digging pot holes. That was the last I saw of the corn.

Living, even by the use of my own brood, so to speak. I also got hold of a mule, raised by J. W. Townsend, at Milltown, and was the superior of the sow as an economical feeder of corn. This particular mule would not eat corn at all, would starve to death with the toughest feed, but just fill up the rack full of broom sedge hay and the world was fat and kick.

These two animals taught me that it was the kind of stock you kept, and whether you made a profit in farming or not. If Mr. Mitchell will buy his foundation stock from these two men he will never be bothered with shortness on corn again.

I suppose I am what, at least, I have said, but I have to state the more and give them the scientific side of the subject. I advise them to plant their corn out in the open ground where it can get light, moisture and light and not under the barn shed, and by the way, it seems that the scientific part of farming is well understood. It is the practical side that gives the boys trouble.

Well, we had a good rain as I forecast. I used to watch the clouds all day when I was a boy, hoping that it would rain so that I could quit work and go fishing, and what I learned there has enabled me in all my days to years to correctly diagnose the weather. So you see I now occupy the head position in the line of the agriculture and weather bureau for Adair county. Call at my office.

Respt.,

J. N. COFFEY.

A fearful accident happened to Mr. H. P. Redmon last Saturday, who lives eight miles from Columbia. Mrs. Redmon's children had a mare hitched to a sled and in going over a field the animal became frightened and ran. Mrs. B. was behind the sled and after the mare had gone some distance she turned and started in the direction of Mrs. R. who could not get out of the line of travel. The animal struck her, dislocating a shoulder blade, knocking out one tooth and fearfully cutting one knee. Mrs. R. is in a very critical condition.

Remember the date for the lecture on "Poetry and Pearls" to be delivered by Hon. Alf Taylor, one of the greatest lecturers of the country. You can't afford to miss this. Come, bring your wife, sons and daughters.

The July Woman's Home Commission is a patriotic number. "The First Declaration of Independence" is the story of the Declaration which anticipated the famous one of 1776. "The Independence Hall of Today" is a charming historical article woven around the Hall in Philadelphia, which has been lately restored. "The Threes of the Confederacy" gives a vivid description of the last battles of the Civil War. A humorous story of the War of 1812 is "The Battle of Quagmire Neck," by Joe Lincoln. Cyrus Townsend Brady's charming story, "Woven With the Ship," is a tale. Onoto Watanna contributes "The Love of a Deaf Girl," and Will N. Harben has a tale of the Georgia mountaineers. Miss Grace Margaret Gould gives valuable hints on the latest fashions of fashion. Published by The Crowell Publishing Co., Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy; sample copy free.

SOME LAWS.

Following are a few of the laws applicable to every day life, which it would be well for everybody to know and observe:
Whoever swears, or is drunk, in the presence of a magistrate or any court of record, can be instantly fined one dollar without further proof.
Wells and pits sunk for any purpose must be filled up or cleaned when abandoned by either the owner or occupant of the grounds or the person sinking the same; or the afterward sinking will be liable to a fine of $5 for every twenty four hours, such well or pit is left unfilled or uncleaned.
For the first offense, it is a fine of not less than five nor more than $20 to cast the carcass of any dead animal in, or within twenty five yards of, any water-course, spring or pond. Every offense after the first is liable not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars.
It is a fine of not less than one nor more than ten dollars for each sheep driven more than ten miles along any public road or marked with plainly branded or without with one or more letters or crosses.
It is a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for from three to twelve months, or both fine and imprisonment, for any seller to wilfully furnish a buyer with a false pedigree of stock.
If the owners of distempered cattle, or dogs diseased with cholera, permit them to run at large outside their premises or shall drive the same along the public road, he shall be fined $10 per head for each such diseased cattle or dog, and shall be liable by civil action for any damage that may occur by spread of these diseases. When any such cattle or dogs die, they must be buried, under a fine of $5 for each carcass not buried.
Any jailer, or officer in charge of a jail, has the right to arm his prisoners when he has reasonable grounds to believe that said jail is about to be attacked by a mob bent upon inflicting violence upon the inmates.
It is a fine of not less than fifty nor more than $500, or imprisonment in the county jail from one to six months or both fine and imprisonment, to offensively interrupt a public speaker.
No minister of the gospel can be arrested while he is engaged in religious work in any religious assembly, for any civil cause whatever. Any officer attempting to make such arrest is liable to a fine from $10 to $50.
Any person unlawfully starting a fire in any woods, fence or grass, or straw, whether damage is done or not, is liable to a fine of $100.
No bells of any kind can be carried on any animal, or animals drawing vehicles, under a fine of $2.00 per day.
Every owner or renter of land who sets a Canada thistle growing thereon and fails to cut it down before it is ripe is liable to a fine of $5.
Any person over twenty one, not a married woman, can have his or her name changed by order of county court.
It is a penalty offense to wilfully cut down, deface, remove or destroy a corner tree or corner stone of the boundary of the State, or to the survey of any tract of land.
Any land owner grazing cattle for compensation has a lien upon such cattle, subject to limitations and restrictions as are provided for in the case of a landlord lien for rent.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has announced that in order to secure a government appropriation of $5,000,000 the managers of the world's fair project in St. Louis must pledge themselves to see to it that the fair is not opened on Sunday at any time, and a contract has been signed to this effect.

There are some good planks in the platform adopted by the Democracy of Illinois. They demand that combinations should be secured. If existing laws are not sufficient to this end then new laws must be made to meet the case. They also demand a revision of the tariff which breeds trusts, and in turn breeds the people, and furthermore that the treatment given to Cuba shall be accorded the Philippines, and there seems to be nothing unreasonable in this.

The high price of beef is not due to the scarcity of cattle. It is the result of a "corner" in the market, by the Beef Trust. The information is furnished that the net earnings of the Trust in 1901 amounted to one hundred millions more than in 1900. It is not surprising that there is discontent on the part of the laboring classes, to whom meat is a greater or less degree, is a necessity.
